UNITED STATES' REPLY TO THE DEFENDANT'S MOTION TO CONTINUE THE TRIAL

The defendant has filed a motion to continue his trial, which is now scheduled for February 3, 2015, for 60 days. Counsel for the government presently has three trials scheduled for March (one on March 3, and two on March 17), all of which appear likely to try, and all of which have been previously continued on at least one occasion.¹ In light of that trial schedule, the government assented to the defendant's motion to continue the trial to April – however, should the Court be inclined to limit the continuance to 30 days, the government would prefer to have the trial as scheduled on February 3, 2015.

Dated: January 13, 2015

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN P. KACAVAS
United States Attorney

¹ Counsel for the government also has a trial presently scheduled for jury selection on February 18, 2015, but it is unclear whether that will go to trial on that date.
